Eighty Six
Letter From The Editor

Four years ago, I walked into the yearbook room of my old school and I made a discovery. I discovered a world of rulers, and layout sheets, croppers and grease pencils. I learned the art of creating a good layout, cropping pictures and writing copy. I worked hard, for two years, to gain as much experience as I could, and when the yearbook came out each spring, I was as proud as any editor, as I read my pages and those the others had done. All of those hours of work, the two o’clock mornings and the long Saturday nights we had spent in the yearbook room, had been well worth it. I held in my hands a book which we hoped would someday be special to that senior class.

Those hours that I spent in that cramped little room were the ones about which I have some of my best memories. When I came to St. Andrews I was anxious to get involved in yearbook again. I thought I had given up any chance to be editor when I left Vermont, but my experience paid off because I was able to be helpful in the production of last year’s Griffin, and then received the editorship this year.

This year, as editor, I am anxious to set a standard in yearbooks which St. Andrews has not yet seen. Being an editor is a lot of hard work. Long hours and sleepless nights go into making deadlines and putting together a good book. There were plenty of times I wanted to throw the whole thing out the window — times when I couldn’t find pictures, or people to write copy. The thought of the result, our senior yearbook, gave me the incentive to finish.

I have many people to thank for their help. First and foremost Ms. Huntington, who encouraged and nagged until things got finished. To Mr. Colburn, who helped me find fall sports pictures — in January. To Debbie, Jake, Jill and Scott, who raised the money, and to Debbie for helping with the senior page crunch. To my teachers, who gave me extensions and were understanding when I sometimes didn’t have all my work done. To Chip, Rob, Peter and Karsten, who really helped me find and take pictures, especially in the crunch toward the end. And to everyone who helped and gave me the support to get the book done by graduation.

To the Class of 1986, my fellow seniors, I hope this book will be something that will help you remember all the good times we had here at S.A.S. If 20 years from now you look back and see one thing which sparks a good memory, then my job has been completed successfully. The staff of the 1986 Griffin presents you with this book — for all the memories and all the good times. My best wishes go with you all.

Robert
Marshall
Colburn

The person to whom we dedicate this yearbook was born in Knoxville, Tennessee. He graduated from Haverford College in 1959 with a B.A. in chemistry. He then came to St. Andrew's in September of 1960 to teach chemistry and physics. He received a Master of Science in 1963 at the University of Delaware. During the 26 years he has been teaching at St. Andrew's he has contributed an enormous amount to the school. He has served as a senior class advisor and as a member of both the Honor and Discipline Committees. He has devoted countless hours and a great deal of energy in his roles as head coach of football and baseball, as chemistry teacher and as director of boy's athletics. But he has also been a friend, an advisor, and a father. He is always there with a smile and a helping hand. He is willing to volunteer his help at a moment's notice, and has a great deal of concern for the students. The class of 1986 would like to thank him for everything he has done.

The 1986 Griffin is dedicated to:
MR. ROBERT MARSHALL COLBURN

The only word that can be used to adequately describe this year's soccer season is frustrating.

Our 5-5-5 record does not fairly represent the skill this year's team had. We had all of the skill necessary to win the State Tournament - the breaks just did not come. Nevertheless, we must remember that we play soccer for the sake of playing soccer - winning is a luxury - true, a luxury the Saints have had for a long time - but soccer can be fun without it. Good Luck to future generations of soccer players and thanks for the memories.

The 1986 Varsity Volleyball team had an interesting season. Never seeming to be able to get more than seven healthy players at one time, the team got through the season with a lot of hard work. The team was new but experienced. Rachel Viddy led the team as Captain and got a lot of support from the other seniors on the team.

Things to remember: I GOT IT!!! ... McDonald’s ... Spike! ... Mini Moose! ... Isa-Uuch!! ... Mr. Walker ... back bumps ... returning John’s serves ... downballs ... Sanford’s Captain ... beating Friends!! ... Goodbye Seniors ... Good Luck to the team of 1986!

Varsity Volleyball

The Junior Varsity Volleyball's season was one of learning and growing. Many of the players had never played before but they were all willing to learn. Working together as a team, led by Ms. Golder and captain Debbie Ohlson, they gained a great deal and improved skills both on and off the court. Best of luck to next year's team and those who will be moving on to varsity, best wishes for a terrific 1986 season!
The 1985 Football team had a very exciting season. For the first time in many years they had a winning season with a final record of 5-3. The energy of the season was reflected in the Tatnall game. The Saints were predicted to lose but instead they beat Tatnall and regained the CANNON. Under the excellent coaching of Mr. Colburn, Mr. Lyons, Mr. Odden, Mr. Richards, and Mr. Branner, the team learned not only good football but the importance of good sportsmanship. Mr. Colburn has stepped down as head football coach, and Mr. Lyons has been named the new head coach. The team wishes both of them good luck and thanks. The seniors headed by captains John Gordy and Steve Locke added a great deal of spirit to the team. They will be missed. Good Luck to the team of 1986!

Women's X-Country
A Winning Season

Men's X-Country
This year's Fall theater production was Charley's Aunt. Alex Thrower and Keary Jenkins played two Oxford boys who are in love with two girls, but there is a serious dilemma — the uncle of the two girls will never approve of such a match! The boys decide that they will use the visit of Charley's aunt as a pretext to invite the girls over and propose. The problem they encounter is that Charley's aunt never shows up. In order to carry out their plan, the boys convince their friend (Rob O'Connor) to dress up as a woman and to "chaperone" the girls' visit. The plot thickens as Charley's real aunt shows up, bringing with her the girl the "fake" aunt loves. In the end, all turns out well and the three boys get married.

Fall Presentations

This year the school was lucky to have a number of visitors from the outer world come and visit the school and tell us about their careers or entertain us. The first group was The Baker's Dozen from Yale. Actually, it was more like the Bakers 1/2 dozen because half of the group got lost and never showed up. Dr. Ramey was the second visitor. She is a professor at Georgetown University and she taught a number of classes here as well. The third visitor was Douglas Kiker from the NBC news team. He filled the auditorium with anecdotes from his years on television and kept us laughing. We are lucky to be able to have such distinguished guests come to speak to us.

WASHINGTON
BASEBALL
IN ’87

If you give yourself to another in trust and honesty there is a change; memory carries a mark now, giver and receiver remain turned to one another, to which is traced the risk of hurt in love. The only way not to be changed is not to love. To love at all is to be vulnerable. Love anything, and your heart will be certainly wrung and possibly broken. If you want to make sure of keeping it intact, you must give your heart to no-one. Wrap it carefully around with hobbies and little luxuries; avoid all entanglements; lock it up safe in the casket or coffin of your own selfishness. But in that casket - safe, dark, motionless, airless - it will change. It will not be broken; it will become unbreakable, impenetrable. The alternative to tragedy, or at least the risk of tragedy, is damnation.

so listen, all of my studies in philosophy boil down to essentially one problem. that problem is how to be happy in this world, remember that old people and you yourself when you're old look back on those "great and happy days of my youth" so you might as well live up to your own future remembrance. i don't mean to imply that you might be unhappy, just that if you feel the pressure building for some reason and it makes you nervous, four years of philosophy have taught me that the best thing you can do is say!!—THIS!! and be happy in spite of it all. He walked to the shore easily as walking on a painted lake. But when his feet touched the ground, the sand and grass at the edge, he began to sink, until with a few slow steps he was to his shoulders in earth and grass. It was as though the pond had suddenly become an and, and the land about had turned to sea. He ram for a moment in the pasture, splashing it about him in dark loam drops, then floated on p of it, then rose and walked on it. It was suddenly miraculous to see a man walking on the sound.

I spent a lot of my time looking at blue,
The colour of my room and my mood,
Blue on the walls, Blue out of my mouth,
The sort of blue between clouds when the sun comes out
The sort of blue in those eyes you get hung up about.

when that feeling of meaningless, sets in,
Go blowing my mind on God,
The light in the dark with the neon arms,
the meek He seeks, the beast He calms,

London: Let's Have Lunch

The greatest pleasure in life is doing what people say you cannot do.

You were born. And so you're free. So happy birthday.

Life is in session. Are you present?

...I'm not sure we should be doing this...
I bought a toothbrush, some toothpaste, a flannel for my face, pajamas, a hairbrush, new shoes and a case. I said to my reflection, "Let's get out of this place."

In an age of madness, to expect to be Untouched by madness is a form of madness. But the pursuit of sanity can be a form of Madness too.
— Saul Bellow

Militant enthusiasm is particularly suited for the Paradigmatic illustration of the manner in which a Phylogenetically evolved pattern of behavior interacts With culturally ritualized social norms and rights, And in which, though absolutely indispensable to the Function of the compound system, it is Prone to miscarry most tragically if not controlled By rational responsibility based on casual insight.
— Konrad Lorenz

Good friends we have, Oh, Good Friends we lost, Along the way. In this green future You can’t forget your past so dry your tears I say.
— Bob Marley
You would see faces in movies on TV in magazines and in books. He thought that one of these faces might be right for him, and that through the years by keeping an ideal facial structure fixed in his mind, or somewhere in the back of his mind that he might, by force of will cause his face to approach those of his ideal, he change would be very subtle. It might take ten years or so. Gradually his face would change its shape — a more hooked nose, wider, thinner lips, beadier eyes, a larger forehead... He imagined that this was an ability he shared with most other people. They had also molded their faces according to some ideal. Maybe, they imagined a new face would better suit their personality, or maybe they imagined their personality would be forced to change to affect a new appearance. This is why first impressions are often correct. Although some people might have made mistakes, they may have arrived at an appearance that bears no relationship to them. They may have picked an ideal appearance based on some childish whim or momentary impulse. Some have gotten halfway here, and then changed their minds... He wonders if he, too, might have made a similar mistake.

— David Byrne

He was a hard working man. He knew by himself just what a man or boy could do. There was no deceiving him. His work went on in his absence almost as well as in his presence; and he had the faculty of making us feel that he was ever-present with us. He seldom approached the spot where we were at work openly, if he could do it secretly. He always aimed at taking us by surprise. Such was his cunning, that we used to call him, among ourselves, 'The Snake.'

Now, there are two different attitudes towards learning from others. One is the dogmatic attitude of transplanting everything, whether or not it is suited to our conditions. This is no good. The other attitude is to use our heads and learn those things which suit our conditions, that is, to absorb whatever experience is useful to us. That is the attitude we should adopt.

The mind is the great poem of winter, the man, who to find what will suffice
Destroys romantic tenements
Of rose and ice.

In the land of war, more than the man, it is
A man with the fury of a race of men,
A light at the centre of many lights,
A man at the centre of men.

It has to content the reason concerning war,
It has to persuade that war is part of itself,
A manner of thinking, a mode
Of destroying, as the mind destroys.
-Wallace Stevens

Young men know when the sun has set darkness comes to settle a debt
-The Clash

Had a dream one night

Without a thought, with only heart
she runs-
There’s fire in her eyes,
Joy in her laugh and
The love through her soul
is the life of her dance-
Come Dancing.

This Bridge by Shel Silverstein
This bridge will only take you halfway there
To those mysterious lands you long to see:
Through gypsy camps and swirling Arab Fairs
And moonlit woods where unicorns ran free.
So come and walk awhile with me and share
The twisting trails and wonderous worlds I’ve known
But this bridge will only take you halfway there-
The last few steps you’ll have to take alone.

Dawn by Paul Lawrence Dunbar
An angel, robed in spotless white,
Bent down and Kissed the sleeping night.
Night woke to blush: the sprite was gone.
Men saw the blush and called it Dawn.

Mommy

A delightful dear daughter named Dawn
Said “As of this June, I’ll be gone.
To a college dramatic
And career so climactic
That none will dare hazard a yawn.”

Maturing can be such a bitch and yet so rewarding that I think the pain is worth it.

I am surrounded by MUTANTS!

Sssh. I am feeling rather GREEN.

In fact, everything around me is green.

Lend me your brains and I think I just might get by.

The shyness is mine, like it or not. It's the best of me and the worst of me and only the covering it up, the hiding of it, and the running from it is NOT ME.

Sheldon Kopp

What a farce!

Rockwell

My soul is a fallen heap to quote unknowingly, The chariot raven spat the scarlet heart; On wedding grounds - a weeping willow column Now shades the 24 dark forms to Saint John Blake.

I need some guidance strong in hand to keep My soul from sinking into swiftly swift Keep nourished dreams from conscious sleep From tunnel-seared where minds forever drift.

But if we act to right wildly white with pain Mine eyes will others strive, all Innocence preserved - spent - my tears of tainted rain Are trickle streams of shattered glass and dust.

Even though something I say may appear senseless or completely abstract, it must mean something or else those words wouldn't have come to my head.

2. In thy halls dwells wisdom abounding. From thy heart springs
3. Thee we hail to-day and forever, Alma Mater proud and true; Guide us in the Path eternal, love divine; In our minds still thy virtues, long may you reign. Wrought by steadfast Faith and Learning,

Make us worthy to honor you.
To our hearts bring peace sublime.
May our love of thee never wane.

This Spring's production was Shakespeare's King Lear, starring Matt Traina, Monica Winsor, and Brooke Bassin as King Lear and his evil daughters, respectively. When the old king steps down, these two evil daughters move in and make his life utterly miserable. No one will ever forget when Teddy Amaya accidentally threw his sword into the audience (nearly hitting Mr. O'Brien). All in all, the play was a great success.

Arts' Day '86

Arts Day 1986 was a huge success. Saturday night students and parents gathered to watch the Spring Play, King Lear and listen to several student recitals, which included performances on the flute, saxophone, cello, and piano, accompanying the musicians, two barn swallows - trapped in the auditorium - added an interesting musical dimension to the pieces. Parents enjoyed several events on Sunday, including performances by the Pro Musica Club, choir, concert band, concert choir, stage band, and The Influence, "a student enterprise". In the art building many students displayed pottery, paintings, drawings, sculptures, and even a wooden model of the arts building itself.
Graduation at a boarding school is very different from graduation at day schools; as students and faculty we live together for 9 months out of the year - we're family, not just classmates. Thus graduation day is both a time for rejoicing and a time for tearful farewells. As Mr. O'Brien said in his commencement address, this year's senior class was remarkable for its athletes, scholars, artists, musicians, and "lovable characters" and we will miss them as leaders, classmates, and friends. We wish them well in whatever they may be doing next year and we also hope that they will come back to see us next year.
School president Matt Traina quoted from Miguel de Cervantes in his speech at graduation. "When one door closes, another is opened." Richard W. Traina, president of Clark University, gave the commencement address.

Farewell
Men's Tennis: State Champions

The tennis team enjoyed its most successful season ever this year. Under the leadership of Mr. Roach and the two team captains, Michael Meers and Chris Tetzeli, the team did not lose a single individual match in the regular season. The success of the team continued through the state tournament where everyone reached the finals and three were state champions. The five returning players and John Matouk are looking forward to another great season.
This year the achievements of the 1986 Women's Varsity Tennis team were impressive. In the beginning of the season, the main objective was first to rebuild a team with only three returning members. Anne Montesano, Vicki Klumb, and Suzanne DeMallie played first, second and third singles, while Lynley Digiante with Sara-Spicer Wallace and Kellie Mitra with Ann Marie Rosas played first and second doubles. Their success continued through the state tournament; they placed second in the state. Bear and Vicki clinched the state titles while Kellie and Ann Marie placed second. The seniors' support will be missed, but next year the players hope to continue their performance and get revenge in the state tournament.

-Ann Marie Rosas '87
The men's varsity crew had an excellent season this year. During the regular season races they beat almost every one of their opponents and they did just as well in the regattas. They rowed extremely well in the nationals and earned an outstanding second place, losing only to Holy Spirit. Although all of the members except one and the coxswain were seniors, second boat is looking forward to a great season next year.

Camping out at Ms. Golder’s ... J.D. O’Brien ... sleek and sexy ... Rachel ... fun run ... Friday night parties ... Our silent (ha ha) moment ... Lawrence ... sitting in the van for six hours ... seat racing ... “What color is Julie’s hair today?” ... Anne ... sprints ... Rhonda’s savage underwear ... “Ms. Golder’s getting married?” ... Ellen ... braless against T.C. Williams ... fried egg by Ellie ... Amy ... “Oops! There goes another skeg!” ... wake monster ... “Wait, Annette lost another contact.” ... Dara ... “Ducky’s watching” ... cruisin’ through New York City ... medals at nationals
The 1986 Lacrosse season was a time for rebuilding and a time for playing our best. Although our record had more losses than wins, our season was a success because we improved and most importantly because we never gave up. The last Varsity and JV games showed the immense improvement the teams had made: the Varsity’s plays flowed, allowing the team to leave the field uplifted and the JV players defeated a team they had lost to before. Our motives were to play so well that another team would be unable to defeat us; the spirit of improvement, guts and fun was what made our season end with a feeling of accomplishment.
