St. Andrew’s School

Many people know him as Señor Joven, Equipo Joven, or Tym; but no matter how you look at it, everyone in the Senior Class, not to mention the school knows who Mr. Young is. It is for this reason that this year’s Senior Class wishes to dedicate this year’s yearbook to Timothy J. Young.

Four years ago, when we were first walking down the mysterious halls of St. Andrew’s, so was a new faculty member. Although it was his first year, Mr. Young’s out-going personality allowed him to adjust quickly to St. Andrew’s life and to help us adjust. For four years, he has served as corridor master to several of us, a coach to others, a teacher to yet others, and an advisor to a lucky few. Through his seemingly endless enthusiasm, Mr. Young has proven to be someone open to everyone in the school and his apartment door is always open to students. Always willing to drive anyone into town, he is a friend to everyone. El Señor is a caring teacher, friend, and this year who truly deserves this dedication. It is because of his great involvement with the school and everyone in it that the Senior Class chooses him for this honor.

On behalf of the school, the Senior Class congratulates Equipo Joven on his vast accomplishments here in his four years at St. Andrew’s. We would like to wish him luck in whatever field he decides to follow, whether it is Olympic running or medicine. Mr. Young will unquestionably continue to affect lives as he moves through his life, and we feel lucky to have been a part of this truly remarkable man’s life.
One day last spring, Mr. Colburn made a bet. He lost, and baked a cake for the women’s lacrosse team when they beat Tatnall. Don’t get me wrong— he wanted them to win more than anyone, and this provided extra incentive.

This story says a lot about Mr. Colburn’s dedication and generosity. A familiar figure each day on the fields, our Athletic Director also dresses up in uniform with his baseball team and his distinctive red outfit during the football games. However, we all love and respect him because of his trust and respect for every team and individual at St. Andrew’s.

We’ve all seen him biking from home at 6:00 AM to grade chemistry tests, go over sports records, continually working for us to achieve our best. This is after a night of tutoring chemistry students, taking duty on corridor, and supervising the clean-up of a senior prank.

It is a wonderful thing to respect and admire someone: so, Mr. Colburn, the senior class of 1994 dedicates this yearbook to you. Thank you for your years here, your effort, your generosity. We’ll never forget.
They may say, "those were the days" but in a way, you know for us these are the days.

-Perry Farrel
We, we are ancient
We are brand spanking new
We are going to teach and learn
We’re going to get fed well
And we call it knowledge and change
And life itself

Moving right along
In search of good times and good news
With good friends you can't lose ...
This could become a habit.
-Kermit and Fozzy
It ain't long before it's gone
— you might as well have a good time.

— Crosby, Stills, and Nash
Here on earth I'll have my cake
Gonna eat it too
'cause if it's a question of to be or not to be
I'll put on my boots and go see what I can see.

Ill Form

Like all freshman classes, this year's III Form began the fall with a hesitant, but enthusiastic attitude. Their personalities complemented each other's to form a very well-rounded class, which made it easy to blend into the S.A.S. community. With the help of upper-classmen and faculty, they were able to welcome St. Andrew's into their lives as a home away from home. It is obvious that in the years to come they will be a helpful asset to the S.A.S. community.
The fourth form has had a tremendous year. Sophomore year is supposed to be the most difficult year at St. Andrew's, but this class refused to accept the myth. They have an all around optimistic attitude towards their lives in all aspects at St. Andrew's, whether this be in the classroom, in the arts or on the fields. Their warm and friendly attitude has helped influence not only the new students joining their class, but also the students and faculty taking part in their form activities. Together, the sophomores have made their form a class to look out for in the future, leaving a mark behind them in the past.
V Form

The fifth form year is the time for the junior class to really come together and focus on themselves as one unified body ready to tackle any goal they set. Their class has been set with only a few new students entering their junior year. They’ve known each other for at least one year, and maybe two by now so they should be ready to produce a class that is going to storm through their junior year and be ready to take on their senior year. This year’s fifth form class had an undeniable form unity. They came in this year with high expectations and did not let themselves down. Through their leadership in fifth form activities, as well as school activities, they proved to be a class with determination and enthusiasm. The school should be waiting eagerly for next year to see what this class can do with their position as seniors. Expectations should be high.
VI Form

The Senior Class returned early in September prepared to lead the school. Whether they’re boasting their dance skills in front of the Crystal Creek band or helping their little brothers and sisters become accustomed to St. Andrew’s, this year’s Senior Class brought with it one of the best years the school has seen.

The Seniors wasted no time in tackling their first obstacle that lay in its path: the sudden enforcement of the 11:00 in-room time. While the VI Form and faculty ultimately agreed on the 11:30-ish time, several seniors continue to pursue the sunrise deadline.

Breaking new ground this fall, the VI Form managed to have a fun, non-alcoholic time during an off-campus “bonding trip”. As shown through its support in all aspects of St. Andrew’s life, this year’s Senior Class should have little trouble maintaining the level of school leadership and spirit through graduation.

What is the first word that comes to your mind when you think of corridor life? Eating? Problems with the utilities? Late night activities? Or just the warm fuzzies? Here's what the students had to say:

- procrastination
- shower lines
- Dominos delivery
- sports in the halls
- laundry room piles
- Saturday Night Live
- cookies-n-milk
- raids
- studyhall
- white flag
- empty fridge
- dirty ARA dishes
- singing in the showers
- donut runs
- sleeping
- bathroom talks
- parties
- wings
- all-nighters
- gossip
- telephone lines
- roommates
- friendship
- HOME

Taking a look around during any time of day, you will find a number of these aspects occurring. And when you put all of them together, you can’t help but think of all the long lasting friendships being built and the best memories being made.

At two o’clock, I decide to go to bed. My eyelids aren’t open enough to appreciate Quentin’s fuzzy logic. He can wait until, hmm . . . 5 o’clock. Dr. McLean told me that you have to get sleep in multiples of three — that sounds good. Until my alarm goes off at 5 and I begin to identify with Quentin’s hatred of passing time. Thank God for the snooze button. My next coherence is eight o’clock — six hours is good — but my homework remains undone and I’ve just landed another week of breakfast sign-in. I fall on my butt skidding across the gully. Ms. Gieger smiles as she gives me my marks and the first three periods are a blur. No mail, but snickers really satisfies. Off to sleep in the bibliotheque — oops, library — and I forgot French oral. Aargh! Lunch is the usual cold cut delight — it energizes me for the basketball game I was supposed to eat breakfast. Showers are wonderful — and I’m finally awake. Strombolis are for dinner, followed by indoor soccer. Death to Macduff. I rush back to my dorm to check in straggling Juniors and shoo their boyfriends away. Now for The Sound and the Fury. I’ve figured it out — it signifies nothin’ 9:30-10 is a rocking social time in the dining hall chaos. Then the bells ring and I get ready to start my homework. Aack! Stress! Lack of sleep! Thank God for my friends or I’d never survive.
Faculty

Education is simply the soul of a society as it passes from one generation to another.
- G.K. Chesterton
Faculty

Wacky, wild, energetic, exciting, involved, caring, comforting and supportive. All of the teachers at Saint Andrew's hold at least some of these qualities and due to extended period of time spent here, most hold all of these traits. The students can always find a faculty member whom they can hang out with on corridor, in the classroom or at school activities on and off campus.

Their enthusiasm shows in all their dedication of knowledge in academics, sports and the development of student's goals in life as a student, an athlete and as a person. The students respect the faculty for their devotion to the well-being of the students, of each other and the SAS community. Their relationship is what holds Saint Andrews together as a growing and learning environment.

Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has.

What is it that keeps over twenty mature Andrians involved in a club that deserves and earns the condemnation of almost every teacher? My threats? Maybe. The desire to get their money back? Perhaps. The undeniable charm, debonair personality, and the extraordinary humor of the senior founders? Absolutely. The Fleurn Club has become the intelligent, men's S.A.C.; the only club in which nude jello parties are the norm and not fanciful dreams. The Fleurn Club may be criticized for its unsavory corridor parties but must be admired for its wild, fierce, two-handed grab for every precious second for life.

Oh, those crazy weekends at St. Andrew's! Who are the brain powers that plan all the fun and excitement that takes place each and every week? The answer lies in that little acronym, SAC, or the Social Activities Committee. Okay, so not each and every weekend at St. Andrew's is the hip-hopping, wall-shaking, rocking and bobbing place that we sometimes want it to be. But that is not SAC's fault. The members of SAC are an energetic group of students and teachers that try to make St. Andrew's the center of fun when we want it most. You can always count on zany ideas being thrown around the room like a night of JelloWrestling, a Twister Tournament, or many other X-rated and explicit ideas. If not for anything else, SAC is commended for our long awaited weekends.
How many people have the chance to be high-ranking international delegates of Russia or Mexico or to be Vice President of the United States, while still in high school? This year a group of St. Andreams held all of these positions, among many others. Okay, so it was not actually the official United Nations, but the participants of Model UN had a great time in simulating this important international body. Though they dedicated many Sunday afternoons learning about their individual countries and the issues that confronted them, the time and effort all paid off in the end when they traveled down to Washington D.C. for the actual Model U.N. The experience of meeting with high school students from up and down the east coast, and staying with them all in one hotel, was an experience that none of them will soon forget.

Princeton's Model Congress is a four day program enjoyed by several SAS students each year who want to have more complete and working understanding of the U.S. Congress. The students must have taken or currently take Advanced American History in order to attend Model Congress. Each student chooses a committee in either the House or Senate and writes a bill concerning an issue they feel is pressing and which falls under their committee's jurisdiction. Through small committee sessions of discussion the bill is either passed or failed. If a bill is passed through committee and later through both full House and Senate, it becomes a Model Congress Law. All such laws are then sent to our U.S. Congress as bills for consideration. Princeton's Model Congress gives students the opportunity to extend their ideas and opinions outside of our SAS community and to pool together with others across the country. It also serves as a practice ground for those who may someday be our country's upcoming legislators.
The Concert Choir, Chapel Choir and the Anthem Choir have all been very active this year. The Chapel Choir's smaller number has improved its quality and with Mr. Cheban's constant comments, jokes, and stories the choir is encouraged in every practice and in every chapel service. An even smaller group of Chapel Choir singers make up the Anthem Choir, a fairly new group that is usually heard during the Christmas service. The Concert Choir, combining many new members with old, has successfully proven itself at Parents' Weekend the Christmas service, Longwood Gardens, and many other places off campus, not to mention their trip to Europe where they no doubt made St. Andrew's proud.

The bands at St. Andrew's are composed of an elite group of students who spend many hours under the french-fry heating lights of the sonorous Cameron room. Highlights of the year for Concert Band were our Kent Convalescent Christmas tour, the chapel service and St. Andrew's Spring Conference Music Festival. Pit Band members for the "Pirates of Penzance" performed splendidly in the play. Characterized by our hot solos, beautiful vocals, and sweaty band director, Mr. Walker, Stage Band is a small group of talented musicians who are always ready to add a little "Hot Sauce" into the music.

This year Le Club Francais was definitely "hyper choute." We not only enjoyed Fon-due fests and French films, but the crepes and la boom brought our vivacious group together. Although people mostly think of us as a Club for finer foods, we truly furthered our appreciation for the French culture through our numerous activities. Vive La France! Vive LaRepublique!

Although the Spanish Club was a little late in starting this year, things went well. Along with the second annual trip to "La Tolteca," there were activities such as the Spanish lock in or "cerraren" and the start of a Spanish literary magazine in which Spanish students were able to publish their creative writing and artwork. Members of "El Club" celebrated Spanish holidays with chips and salsa, and did their best to raise awareness of these holidays throughout the school. The club gave Spanish students of all skill levels a chance to practice their Spanish in a relaxed environment and learn more about the Spanish culture.
This year, the Latin Club's festivities have included a celebration of Virgil's birthday, honoring the ancient poet with a viewing of "Clash of the Titans" and a bacchanal of five dozen donuts. In the spirit of the Romans, we have had parties celebrating the way of life; sitting around, eating Dunkin' Donuts, talking about life, and enjoying ourselves. There is an appreciation of life that Romans led in their great empire, but on the whole, we meet simply and step back from the everyday life at school.

The Peer Counseling Group made its debut, after an intensive ten-week training session, at St. Andrew's this year. With teen members from the senior class and Ms. Miller as the leader, it has proved to be a huge success. The addition of the Peer Counseling Group has been very positive, as everyone goes through times of trouble here at school and needs someone to talk to. The new group of thirteen is just that: teen very caring, sensitive individuals who want to listen and help.

Amnesty International

The conscious and sensitive students who are members of Amnesty International help to fight against political injustice. They write letters to various countries to release prisoners of war or to investigate the incarceration of political activists. They raise money for postage costs with bake sales and other fund-raisers. St. Andrew’s Amnesty International chapter is a small chapter of a worldwide organization that is very successful in educating the world about human rights and exposing human atrocities.

Vegetarian Cooking Club

The Vegetarian Cooking Club devotes themselves to soybean products, veggies, and the intellectual assets of the Caldwell’s cows along with the rest of the animal universe, including Pigs in Space. We concoct incredible feasts which many times allure those meat eaters to pawing at Mr. Young’s door—until of course they find out tempeh, tofu, or T.V.P. (textured vegetable protein) is the main entree. We discuss the importance of a healthy diet without meat, but mostly, we talk about the next meal. Food is a very important aspect of this highly intellectual cuisine-minded group. We hijacked the A.R.A. kitchen a few times, and a peace agreement was only settled with A.R.A. agreeing to serve entrees only appealing to those who appreciate the finer foods in life—The Vegetarian Cooking Club.
Every Saturday the Recycling Committee pulls on their sterilized gloves and all protective equipment and attack the school's recycling bins. They encourage all members of the St. Andrew's community to "pitch in" and help out our environment in a time of need. They try their best to make recycling as easy as possible by placing bins in the most accessible areas around the school. They hope to provide an awareness that is ever-prominent throughout the entire school. Our school can do the most unbelievable things if we all come together with willingness and determination. We strive to achieve goals in the classrooms, on the fields, and in our community, let's do something for our environment: RECYCLE.

After a hearty ARA meal, six strapping young men accompanied by Bill Draper and Oliver Turner, the commissioners, enjoy hot beverages of their choice. They're smooth, charming and debonair but at the same time ruggedly blue collar, and they yearn for a hot cup of Joe.
The Breakfast Club was started at St. Andrew's in 1968. This secret society spurred the popular movie, "The Breakfast Club." Due to political pressure mounting at our support of Iranian anti-counterculture, the movements we have publicly surfaced are perhaps the most powerful St. Andrew-Iranian coalition ever.

And who could ever forget the Wessen-...
While cocky expectations for this year’s Cardinal quickly proved impossible due to St. Andrew’s hectic schedule, the writers and editors of the school newspaper have still managed to do a fine job. Jon Williams has kept the momentum going, and his loyal staffers, Deepak Voora, Rachel Burnette, John Morgan, “Photography Editor” Stony Gronow, and “Astrology Editor” Shanna Szamhurzingsczie, have stuck together through thick and thin. The stalwart writers have responded with thoughtful and thought-provoking articles that probe deep into the subconscious of the school. And, of course, the readers have proved as loyal as ever. Whether the writers and editors are typing away at their word processors, poring over the submissions in the library, or doing an intensive layout session in the computer lab, you can be sure they’re making the Cardinal “where free speech at St. Andrew’s finds its voice.”

The Andrean

The Andrean is the students’ literary catalogue. It displays their poems, short stories, personal essays, photographs and drawings. This year The Andrean will be published once, but by doing this it will ensure the best student literature and artwork. Lundy Smith, who headed a similar publication at a school in California, will not only supervise the process of The Andrean, but he will also add to its creativity with his literary talents.
Chapel Organizations

The members of the various chapel organizations play significant roles in our chapel program, whether they are seen during the service or work behind the scenes. The vestry encourages the awareness of those who are less fortunate by choosing a different project to support each term. Through chapel services and announcements, they inform the school about the project and ask everybody to show their support by contributing to the weekly collection. The work of the acolytes can be appreciated during every service as they carry flags, light candles, and aid the chaplains in many other ways. Sacristans, on the other hand, are less visible. Their duties include preparing the altar and displaying the hymn numbers before the service. Last but not least, the lectors are responsible for reading the Psalms, Gospels, and Lessons used during the service. Those who devote their time and energy to helping the school through these organizations often remain unrecognized, but their efforts are undoubtedly appreciated.

Community Service

Why would any SAS student in their right mind choose to wake up at 8:00 on a Sunday morning, or eat ARA bag lunches Tuesday afternoon, or give up their precious free time on Sunday or Friday afternoons? Those who don't participate in any of the community service opportunities at SAS may never know. However, the good that comes out of volunteering is obviously well worth the sacrifice of fitting a community service commitment into our already hectic schedule, considering that in almost every community service program, more people signed up than the program could allow. While the selfless goal to live up to the saying "It is better to give than to receive" may be the true motivation of some volunteers, community service also rewards us each with something intangible that you really can only understand by experiencing it: the joy of seeing a woman gently cradling her newborn baby, the happiness of being enthusiastically greeted by your little brother or sister or a classroom full of kids each week. Also, through meeting new and different people each week volunteering expands our world and can give us all an often much needed escape from this small community of SAS. So, the next time that you think a hospital volunteer is just simply insane for waking up early every Sunday morning by choice, remember you will never understand until you try it yourself.

One moment now may give us more than years of toiling reason: Our minds shall drink at every pore the spirit of the season.

-William Wordsworth
This fall theatre production was of Mary Chase's Pulitzer Prize winning comedy, Harvey. It is the story of funloving Edward P. Dow (Grant Shuman) and his best friend, Harvey, a six-foot high invisible rabbit. Because no one but Elwood can see Harvey, everyone thinks he is crazy. When Elwood's sister, Vita (Megan Forney), and niece, Myrtle (Shanna Samarasinghe), attempt to commit him to an asylum run by the famed Dr. Chumley (James Neal III), their efforts are thwarted by the doctor's assistants, Dr. Sanderson (Eric Heinle) and Nur Kelly (Anne Keller) along with Elwood's care-free and aloof character.

With an excellent cast and the artistic and hard working tech crew, this year's play exceeded its expectations and was indeed the highlight of Parents' Weekend. Obviously, Ms. Anne Matthers deserves the most credit for the production's success. Throughout the fall, in every practice, she pushed the actors and actresses to develop their roles, think like their character, and let the magic of Harvey empower themselves, as well as their audience.

Not only is Parents' Weekend a time for the parents, but also a time for the students to show off to their parents their many talents at what exactly they have been dedicating their time and effort to for the fall term. Like the students day to day, parents are met with a list of activities for the weekend. The time is used to present the students and the school in all aspects of life here, in academics, athletics, talents, and friendships. The parents leave on Sunday satisfied with the excellence performed by their child and by St. Andrew's.
Don't Agonize! Organize!
Equipped with about 400 gallons of raw jello, clothes pins, rotten ARA meat (not to be redundant, of course), our miles of duct tape, some hockey sticks, plenty of Karo syrup, and a sink full of warpaint, the most insane collection of youth in America today, including the likes of Elliot Lane, heather Kordish, Mackenzie Pitcairn, lobb McDonald, and Frank Castenada, gathered together on a dark and stormy night in late October and engaged in an all-out BATTLE VERSUS EVIL. The result? Yes, there was a slight amount of permanent defacement; so, the class of 1995 left yet another mark. “Did someone mention marks?” Well, this Halloweekend may not have teen the most frightful, but I but it will be the last.
Weekends? What weekends? Oh, you mean Saturday nights from the time sports are over until we have to be back on corridor at 10:45. Then that's when the real night life begins.

The year started off with Twister—a game for all ages. Luckily it was not a test of intelligence, but of flexibility. (Left foot on green. That's about all we are capable of once the weekend rolls around.) The whole school's participation was needed to weed out all of the people incapable of putting their feet behind their head and end up with a bunch of noodles in the final round.

Needless to say SAC did a great job getting the weekends started off on the right foot with excellent participation in their zany activities. The school has followed the examples that members of SAC have set with their enthusiasm and energy that they put into all weekend activities. Whether it was on the dance floor in the Student Center or on the front lawn jamming to the DJ or out shaking a leg in the Cameron Room to the tunes of "Delicious" the students enjoyed the evening to the fullest, and it's not just because there is nothing better to do. We love you SAC!
ACTIVITIES
Imagine yourself touring St. Andrew's on a Tuesday around sports time during fall term. Starting at the field hockey field during a game; the team passes the ball down the field with such ease and scoring as one team unified by their spirit. Then, across the field, guy’s soccer is warming up before a game. You hear from your tour guide that SAS men’s soccer has once again reclaimed their reputation of being one of the strongest teams in the state. Onto women’s soccer, not only are they state champs, but they represent the strength and success of women’s athletics at SAS; only in their fifth season at St. Andrew’s and are already very much known as one of the more dominating teams in a done-hundred mile radius. On the next field over, the football team’s energy and enthusiasm for their sport is quickly generated throughout the atmosphere. In the gym, volleyball is once again proving the prediction of their falling last in the conference to be wrong; they are now third in the conference. Walking out the front of the gym, you are met by a large number of guys in spandex and a small number of girls wearing a permanent smile from their runners high. Yes it is Cross-Country, the men and women who come together to run their competitors into the ground. Impressed? I think so.
Make Pain Your Ally
Cross-Country

With a record turnout of twenty-four members cross-country had the potential to be a strong and competitive team this year. Although the season started out slow, it was soon apparent that a successful and victorious season was feasible.

Captained by Dominic Seiterle, cross-country showed their strength at the "Gauntlet" race on Parent's Weekend. Coach Lindsey Brown saw the strong potential in the Varsity squad and created some "fun" new workouts. He added Whistle, Fitness, Perimeter and Sunset drop off runs to his cross-country workout sheet. These proved to be worth their while; Varsity was second to Westtown at the DISC meet, and all seven Varsity runners obtained a sub-19 minute time on the home course. At this point it was evident that St. Andrew's would leave its mark at the State meet. The triumphant 4th place finish in the State meet was intensified by sound victories over Archmere (a victory not accomplished since 1988), Sanford, and Tower Hill.

Two seniors are graduating this year, but the strength and potential of five remaining underform Varsity runners will guarantee the growth and success of cross-country for the future seasons. Think "Bwana!"

3:45- A congregation of runners in the training room. Athletic tape, heating pads, and icy hot are exchanged quickly.
4:00- The team (all five of us) leaves the steps for a brisk warm-up around the fields. Stretching begins immediately after the short jog, including the cobra and more push-ups than our male counterparts.
4:25- Practice really starts with miles of LSD runs, hills, barnloops, or sprints.

Until November 15, the huge women's cross-country team continued to meet on the stone steps of the gym. This season was a collection of challenging races, pasta dinners, and yoga. Good luck to next year's team, and congratulations to the team of 1993 ... Racer Red!

7-7-1 A Season To Be Proud Of Field Hockey

7-7-1. This record does not show the kind of season St. Andrew's hockey had: this was one of the best teams to pass through the school.

Beating Friends, beating St. Mark's, only losing to Tower Hill by one goal, dress up day, psyche buddies, our incredibly inspiring coach.-and thanks to you, too, Lundy.

Thanks to the Seniors for their devotion and leadership, you will all be sorely missed. Good luck next year to the new varsity SAS Field hockey! We know you'll be great.

It Was Rough
Football

This year was a trying and painstaking season for many of the members of the team. Although a large portion of the team suffered from injuries to their bodies as well as to their hearts, we all came together and worked as a unit. We worked with our coaches each day to fulfill both short and long term goals. Each member of the team inspired the others to work harder. The development of team work helped many younger and inexperienced players out when they were put into play positions that they had never played before.

None of this would have been possible without our coaches Mr. Lyons, Mr. Colburn and Mr. DeSalvo. These three men provided us with the support and encouragement that is needed to build a team, always pushing us to our limits, never expecting anything but our best. Thank you to the team and the coaches, Andrew DeSalvo and our loyal fans for a season which we shall never forget.

It's Time To Play The Vegetable Game

Women's Soccer

Women's Soccer rules your mom. This season we had a moose, no I mean a whale of a time. The first day of camp we stepped onto the field and saw colorful soccer balls dangling from the shade-providing limbs of our beautiful burgeoning pine trees. The speed with which we sprinted the two mile run stemmed from the fear that the alternative would lead to a replacement of the soccer balls with our heads. By the middle of the season, we were so strong that when Page took an opposing player out in a game against Severn, not only did an ambulance come, but a preacher and the fire department did too.

Obviously the team's physical strength was crushing, we all sought to be like Kim. Furthermore, our team was mentally together as well. Whether playing the vegetable game in the van or passing beautifully out on the field against McDonough (the fourth ranked team in the nation who we killed), we always connected as a team. Through hard work (masicism), determination, and an inspiring rendition of "Pull out the stopper! Let's make a whopper!," we again rose above our competition and captured State Championship. GROIN!!!
Pass, Set, Crush!!!
Volleyball

If you were to ask any of the returning Varsity players this year what their outlook was for the season after five starting players graduated last year, their vision would probably be a little shaky. Considering we were predicted to fall dead last in the conference, we had a lot ahead of us that we had to prove. No problem.

We had the strength, the energy, the power, the force behind us in practices and in games. We came to the gym ready to throw ourselves on the hard floor and then compare the bruises afterwards. Our favorite drill was "The Pit" where Mr. Wang would pelt us with volleyballs one after another. That's how our season was played; one point after another, one game after another, one victory after another. We proved to ourselves, our school and to the conference that we would not put up with such false predictions.

Volleyball will be the fall sport to watch for next year. With four returning starting players and a huge JV team ready to prove their Volleyball worth on a Varsity spot.

The Tradition Returns
Men’s Soccer

This year's Men's Varsity soccer squad was desperately striving to regain the winning tradition of St. Andrew's soccer. Led by Co-captains All-Star goalie Rob Butler and the quietly intense Bill Draper, the 1993 team proved that with skills and ferocity, virtually any goal can be attained. Although there were only two captains, every senior played an equal role in the leadership of the talented underformers. This year's seniors were Ken Ditzel, Kip Digges, Alex Robin, Oliver Turner, Rob Butler, Bill Draper, Stanley Roberts, Remington Curtis, and Alex Nuti-de-Biasi. Without their positive attitudes and composure on the field, St. Andrew's would not have been able to post its first winning record in 3 years. This year's seniors have laid a foundation for many soccer seasons to come. Mr. Roach and Mr. Speers did a superb job in being the most positive and supportive coaches that this school has ever seen. Thanks to Adam Stegman, Mr. Cadwell, and any other person who helped out the team. Although our season did not go as well as we had hoped, soccer has returned to St. Andrews.

THE PIRATES
OF PENZANCE
Indoor Soccer

Twice a week for one hour after dinner, students rally behind various teams such as Franks'n'Beans and the Cows. Made up of not only soccer players, but also swimmers, runners and rowers all gather in the Indoor Coliseum to battle each year against the young and the aged (Faculty team's Macduff with increasing senility). All of whom have shocking competitiveness and the odd flair for violence.

SAC did a great job this winter term helping to keep spirits high while trudging through the ice and snow day in and day out this winter. Every weekend was packed with opportunities and the entire school had a great time taking advantage of them. The ice that had frozen over Noxontown Pond for the most part of the winter was something to take advantage of as much as possible considering it's the first time ever for this year's students. The hypnotist was great entertainment for most of the school while a few select seniors allowed themselves to be taken over by the strange and mysterious forces of hypnotism. The Seniors helped the underformers relieve some tension with Casino Night where they could try and win money from the high rolling seniors. Nonetheless, this winter term seemed to fly by, not only keeping busy during the week, but during the weekends as well.
Semi-Formal

This year's semi-formal was one of the best in years because of an overwhelming effort put forth by the fourth form. The "Under the Sea" theme was accented with "The Little Mermaid" being shown in the lobby. All day Saturday, Mr. Lyons and the fourth form labored to give the semi-formers the impression of being under the sea. Goldfish, Pepperidge Farm and the live kind, rested on all the tables, and the multi-colored strobe light aided the aquatic adventure. This year's Semi-formal was also one of the best in a while because of the spectacular band — The Caufields. "All the way from Newark, DE," the Caufields dazzled the dancers with mostly original songs; and hey, they were on MTV. Overall, from the various dinners enjoyed on and off campus, to the Caufields (who were on MTV by the way), everyone found the Semi-Formal to be an aquarium of adventures.
This winter’s sports teams not only had to deal with the usual colds and other sicknesses due to the weather, but also had to deal with the regular cancellations that occurred so often during this year’s icy winter. However they proved themselves strong and capable in not allowing their sport to suffer from the uncontrollable weather. The majority of the teams finished with winning seasons. An exciting addition to the winning seasons held this winter was the St. Andrew’s swim team, proving themselves to be well worth the money put into the new swimming pool. The fact that the swim team can be in their first season ever at St. Andrew’s and still pull out as winners of a tough season proves that St. Andrew’s winter sports are a force not to be reckoned with.
More Than A Record
Men’s Squash

Though never given much recognition from the community, the Varsity Boy’s Squash team certainly deserved it this year. Led by six senior veterans, this year’s squad hoped to achieve what was thought to be unachievable in Saint Andrew’s Squash - a winning record. As we celebrated our first win of the season against Shipley (a nationally renown team), our goal seemed reasonable. However, we found it difficult to recover from our three losses, as five of our ten matches were cancelled. Though we fell short of our pre-season goals by finishing 2-3, we did have unprecedented performances both as a team and as individuals. Nonetheless, we all enjoyed the season and with next year’s team good luck.

A Stellar Season
Women's Squash

Women's squash started with its first ever winter camp! Due to this marked improvement and intensity we achieved our best record ever: 4-3. Our team breakfasts at the Chilton's led us to victory. Guest coach Mr. Chilton showed off his ability but still soundly lost to Mrs. Chilton.

There are lots of memories: our many long van rides and the game, McDonald's, New Wave Hot Sounds in the weight room, rock'n'roll drills, and our incredible victory over Episcopal Academy. Good luck to the team next year! You guys will be stronger than ever!
EELING: Cull, McCann, Sanders, Bowman, STANDING: Bosick, Forbes, McCarthy, Mrs. Denning.
With seven returning players and five outstanding newcomers, the men's Varsity Basketball team was determined to shake the memories of last year's disappointing season and make a name for themselves. Even though the Cardinals did not have a winning season, the team led by Charlie Gaeta's passing, Andrew Sykes' and Kip Digges' shooting, Niegel LaBorde's rebounding, and Josh Pray's triple-double (which included three thunderous dunks), the team did however put together a twenty-four point victory over Westtown.

Even though the seniors, Kip Digges, Niegel LaBorde, and Rob Butler, will be sorely missed, the remaining players have grown tremendously this season and promise to be a threat in the conference as well as the state in '95.

The 1993-94 season was a building one for the women's basketball team. Though we did not have many wins, we improved tremendously during the season and learned more than just basketball. For example, do you know who the first Christian was? Ask anyone on the team and they can tell you as well as some more important facts.

Our knowledge on the court improved as well and resulted in clenching victories over Friends and Caravel. As a young team this year, we show great promise for the future. Look for great things from us next year and keep your headrests up.

Finally with their own pool, the SAS boys' and girls' swim teams were able to nail down winning seasons. The boys' team, led by James Nelson and Ken Ditzel, closed the season with a 5-2 record and won the Independent Conference. The girls' team, captained by Kate Pettus and Alice Palmer, finished 7-2 and placed second in the conference, just a mere eight points away from first place. Without the coaching of Mr. Smith, Mr. Wallace, and Mrs. Wallace, and the amazing facilities of St. Andrew's pool, this remarkable season would have never occurred. Through intensive training and much devotion, the SAS swim team sent four boys and five girls to States along with four boys and three girls to the more exacting Easterns. Most impressive of all the many exciting aspects of the season was the terrific sportsmanship exhibited by the swim team, especially the clap-technique the swimmers used to support the drastically improved divers. Altogether, the SAS swim team will be a force to be reckoned with in the future as demonstrated by this terrific season.
Still Rockin’ In The House That Bull Built
Wrestling

This year’s wrestling enjoyed great success in dual meets. Unfortunately, the team was not able to achieve its full potential because of the tournaments and matches that were canceled. The highlight of the season was when the wrestling team crushed Tower Hill in a dual meet, a team we haven’t beaten in more than five years. Three factors, Mr. Carpenter’s and Mr. Gilheany’s excellent coaching, the leadership of the juniors, and the talented youth of the team, promises to make wrestling at St. Andrew’s very exciting in the next few years.

Some people come into our lives, make footprints on our hearts, and we are never the same. - anonymous

After a while you learn the subtle difference between holding a hand and chaining a soul. And you learn that love doesn’t mean leaning and company doesn’t mean security and you understand that kisses aren’t contracts and presents aren’t promises. And you begin to accept your own defeats - with you head held high with the grace of a woman not the grief of a child. You learn to build your roads on today because futures have a way of falling down in mid-flight. After a while you learn that even sunshine hurts if you get too much. So you plant your own garden and decorate your own soul instead of waiting for someone to bring you flowers. And you learn that you can endure that you really are strong and you really have worth and you learn and you learn ... And with every goodbye you learn. - anonymous.

Yes, I was once small!

But then I grew!

As a small child...

Give and take is what life is all about.

Andrew Holden Techet

Shifting
It lapped against the sun
Rolling and breaking in its warmth.
Sit and listen to it, see it,
Such a sight you have never seen.
It will never be the same,
The first until the last.
Shifting hour by hour and day to day,
O beautiful rays of life are they.

-A.H.T.

And grew!

And grew some more!

After a while, you learn the subtle differences
Between holding a hand and chaining a soul,
You learn that love doesn't mean security,
And you learn that kisses aren't contracts,
And presents aren't promises.
And you begin to accept your defeats
With your head up and your eyes open,
With the grace of a woman and not the grief of a child.
And you learn to build all your roads on today,
Because tomorrow's ground is too uncertain for plans
And futures have a way of falling down in midflight.
After a while, you learn that even sunshine
burns if you get too much of it.
So, you plant your own garden, and decorate
your own soul
Instead of waiting for someone to bring you flowers
And you learn that you really can endure-
That you really are strong-
And you really do have worth-
And you learn and learn-
With every goodbye you learn.

Know you what it is to be a child? It is to be something very different from the man of today. It is to have a spirit yet streaming from the waters of baptism; it is to believe in love, to believe in loveliness, to believe in belief. - Francis Thompson

The wisest men, in the bulk, are the men who have tilled the earth and whose fathers have tilled it before them, and least wise, without a doubt, are those who miss the meaning of that august sequence in human affairs. - Hilaire Belloc

The need for a father is as crucial as the need for a son, and the search of each for the other through all the days of one's life - exempts no one. Happy the man who finds both. - Max Lerner

Thank you Mom and Dad—together or apart, you have made me who I am, and Paul—your kindness and gentle strength have inspired me; I love you all. Alexis, Ali, Heather, and Anna, thank you for the memories and for showing me how deep true friendship can go. Thank you Geoff and Libby, you helped me find myself and my place as SAS. Thank you Nick, you will always be more special to me than you know. Thank you Tara, for a friendship since the third grade that will endure forever, you will always be right. There are no words for you guys, Aaron or Bill, thank you for always being your incorrigible selves. Thank you to the McLearns, the Dennings, Mr. Lyons, Mrs. Caldwell, and Sam for your unwavering support and inspiration.

Thanks to Mom, Dad, Thathya, Ammamma, Nyanama, and especially Santhi, I love you all very much. Also thanks to Jon, Kippy, Nuti, Ollie, Reubes, Erin, Andrew, Luke, Sai, the rest of my friends, Mr. Rue, Mr. Denning, Mr. Lyons, Mr. Speers, Fleming ’94, and Ganesh.

Alex
Thanks to Mom, Dad, Noah, all other relatives, and everyone else who touched me along the way; especially: Ollie, Nuti, Rainert, Franker, Kip, Deepak, Arwine, Conor, Luke, Sam, Mahlstedt, Shanna, Fleming ’94, Mr. Brooke, U2, Phish, and to Hadley, whom I love more than she knows.

Jonathan
Thanks to: Mom, Dad, Amy, Andy, Ga-Ga, and the rest of my family. Also thanks to Reuben, Deepak, Nuti, Kip, Oliver, Mahlstedt, Conor, Nush!, the rest of my friends, Mr. Bates, Mr. Hunt, Phish, Ween, Steve, Bob and Jimmy Cole, and Fleming ’94, you are all very important to me.

Kip
Thanks to: Mom, Dad, Courtney, Brooke, John, Brittaney, and the rest of my family. Thanks for the great times Nuti, Jon, Reuben, Deepak, Oliver, Rainert, Rem, and Conor (I didn’t forget this time). Also thanks to the Senior Class and Mr. Speers. Anne, I think you know enough already for me not to have to say anything.
Oliver

I mean if they’re running and they don’t look where they’re going have to come out from somewhere and catch them. That’s all I’d do all day. I’d just be the catcher in the rye and all. I know it’s crazy, but that’s the only thing I’d really like to be.

-J.D. Salinger

Thanks and love to Mom and Dad for spending the time with me and giving me these four wonderful years. Thanks to Mr. Rue, Mr. Speers, Mr. Roach and Mr. Cheban for their help. Nuti, Alex, Deepak, Jon, Kip, Conor, Mahlstedt, Ian, Draper, and all my friends, Thank you for the great times. Chris, I will always look up to you, I love you.
There are so many people to thank: first of all, thanks to Mrs. Roach, Mr. Speers, and Mrs. Denning, and especially Mr. Lyons and Mr. Young — you have provided an inspiration to me through your teaching and friendship. To my friends: Ollie, Jon, Reubs, Nuti, Kip, Jessyca, Erica, Rachel, Luke, Draper, Conor — you’ve always been supported me and been there for me. Thanks. I will never forget the late night talks, the fun we’ve had, and the times I know we will continue to have. In particular, Nelson and Deepak: you two have been the best friends I have ever had. Not to sound cheesy, but without you guys, I wouldn’t have made it.

Mom, Dad, Doug: what can I say, you have been there for me since birth, and (hopefully) will continue to be. Grandma and Grandfather: besides the obvious support, you both have been an inspiration to me and kept me going. Grandma and Grandpa: Thank you for all your support. Finally, thanks to Schmolze ’94 and Fleming ’94 (my second home). Live for the future, remember the past.

When we were born, you cried and the world rejoiced. Live your life in such a manner that when you die the world cries and you rejoice.

Old Indian Saying

Mégan

• From the Welsh, meaning “strong and able”.

• From Al Kooper’s Blood, Sweat and Tears: “Meeghan’s Gypsy Eyes”.

“It was a leaping tongue of bloom that the scythe had spared, Beside a reedy brook that the scythe had bared. The mower in the dew had loved them thus, By leaving them to flourish; not for us, nor yet to draw one thought of ours to him, But from sheer morning gladness at the brim.”

—From “Tuft of Flowers”, Robert Frost

To my #1 son

I cried 4 years ago, the day I left you in the hands of the ST. ANDREW’S.

I also cried today, I still fear what every parent fears, that loving knowledge that grow on us. My baby is not a baby anymore. Have I, prepare him/her for task ahead.

But son you can never fail me. Why? You are my gift from the Lord above. God only gives perfect gifts.

Sometimes you believe we live in two different worlds. And if it’s true, and it may be so.

I challenge you, as I have always challenged myself.

to AFFECT someone, to TOUCH a heart to PRODUCE a change, to change a life.
	TO REACH YOUR WORLD

Its never been about me and never will.

Always. "grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Christ Jesus. To Him be glory both now and forever Amen. 2Peter 3:18

I hope your as proud of me as a father. As I’m proud of you as being my son.

To Jerome

I want everyone to know, your very special to me. I’m so glad your my "big brother". We have our problems, but in it we have grown very close. Your always there for me. I can’t take the whole page, so I have to go. But I want you to know that I LOVE YOU. YOU’LL DO FIND IN COLLEGE. CONGRATULATIONS your little sister

We shall not cease from exploration
And the end of all our exploring
Will be to arrive where we started
And know the place for the first time.

What we call the beginning is often the end
And to make an end is to make a beginning.
The end is where we start from.

Yes Cosmo there really is a Santa Claus

What a great looking Family

Wow, What A beautiful baby

To my son Cosmo:
May the good Lord be with you down every road you're on.
And may sunshine and happiness surround you when you're far from home.
May you grow to be proud, dignified and true.
And do unto others as you'll have done to you.
Be courageous and be brave, and in my heart you'll always stay —
Forever young.

May good fortune be with you, may your guiding light be strong.
Build a stairway to heaven whether you're a prince or a vagabond.
May you never love in vain, and in my heart you will remain —
Forever Young.

Forever Young — And when you finally fly your way out here,
I'm hoping that I served you well.
For the wisdom of a lifetime no one can ever tell.
For whatever road you choose, I'm right behind you — win or lose.
Forever young.

with much Love & Pride,
your Dad & Family

The smell of White Out, the number 10700, and the words, "Type conveys a strong visual message..." For years to come these things will transport us back to the tiny room encompassed by the royal blue stripe and the red fence. Not only were countless hours spent there laying out pages, proof-reading copy and cropping pictures, but time was also spent figuring out exactly when our next deadline would be and how we were ever going to make it on time. In true St. Andrew’s style, we often found ourselves saying, "We’ll get to those next five double-page spreads into your factory tomorrow by 10:00 p.m. - we promise." And somehow, by some freak of nature, we did.

SPECIAL THANKS TO: Luther, Mr. Stegman, Neil, Alexandra, Josh T., Allison, John R., Eric H., and very, VERY special thanks to Rich Shrenker.
This year’s wrestling team had a 6-6 season, which is an impressive record considering the team forfeited 18 points per match. Under the leadership of tri-captains Ashton Curtis, Bruce McEvoy, and Paul Bramble, SAS wrestling was a force to be reckoned with in the Independent Conference and the Delmarva area. With about 90 team pins and several wrestlers having over ten wins, this year’s team upheld the strong wrestling tradition at St. Andrew’s and sent Ashton Curtis and Michael Evans to the State Tournament. After being canceled due to snow the previous year, the SAS tournament was a success sending a staggering four SAS wrestlers to the finals, and with Bruce McEvoy being crowned as the 135-pound champion.

Midwinter Spring is its own season
Sempiternal though sodden towards sundown,
Suspended in time, between pole
and tropic.
When the short day is brightest,
with frost and fire,
The brief sun flames the ice, on
pond and ditches,
In windless cold that is the heart’s heat.
Reflecting in a watery mirror
A glare that is blindness in the early afternoon . . .

It is amazing to me how many people ask me if I'm glad this season is over. Coaches from very good programs and from poor programs have said that they cannot wait until the end of the season. Well, I feel just the opposite. If you look at the record alone, I guess it doesn't appear to be very successful. Yet, I had as much fun with this team as any I have ever coached, and it was because of one reason - my assistant coaches and the players. This group never let a loss get them down. They won some games they should not have won, and they lost five one run games to some very good teams. This team will get behind and battle back. This team never quit, never felt it could not win, and no matter how big the deficit - never stopped giving all they had. Every player worked very hard to improve as an individual and winning three of the last four games attest to their progress.

We had four players make the All-Conference Team this spring: Matt Eakin, 2nd team shortstop; Andy Sykes, 2nd team second baseman; Jason Bradley, 1st team first baseman; and Bullets Campbell, 1st team utility player. Jason and Bullets pushed, supported, and set an aggressive example for the younger players. We're going to miss these two veterans - congratulations to the two MVPs.
Following the team with the most successful year to date in women's lacrosse at St. Andrew's, the 1994 team proved to themselves and to the Independent conference that their lack of experience on the attack was not going to hinder their success this season.

Led by captains Erin Burnett and Alyssia Oakley, and seniors Katie Forrestal, Liz Reynolds, and Anna Stancioff, the team learned how far they could go when they pushed themselves to their physical limits during our "boot camp" practices. The team's records of 10-4 would not have been possible without the notable improvement made throughout the season by the team's two Most Improved Players, Liz Dwyer and Christina Stenbeck. Liz Reynolds led the team in scoring again this year with 43 zones and 10 assists and was the team's MVP. The coaches' award went to the most consistent defensive player Cindy Coggeshall. There were a number of All-Conference selections from this team as well Liz Reynolds, 1st team; Liz Dwyer, 2nd team; Erin Burnett, 2nd team; Cindy Coggeshall, 2nd team; Katie Forrestal, Honorable Mention.

As Delaware begins planning for a state tournament for women's lacrosse, the St. Andrew's team continues to improve. As the #3 team in the state, we will be a contender when the time comes.
The '94 season was an inexperienced team that lost several players due to injuries however every player will agree that it was one of the best seasons yet. It started with a 9-4 romp over the 1993 State tournament runner-up Brandywine, and the 4th quarter loss to this year's State tournament champion, Tatnall. Under the leadership of Captain Stanley Roberts, Goalie Dave Edelen, and Attackman Josh Hayes the team was able to confidently run with any of the strongest teams in the area.
I experience a wealth of emotion when I reflect on this season. We have faced many challenges, challenges that many might shy away from or make excuses for. The young women on this team have never uttered an excuse or felt sorry for themselves. Instead, they have given everything in the face of very little reward. I am proud of each and every rower and coxswain for what they have sought and for what they have accomplished.

On the first day of practice this spring, I told the team that we would measure the success of this program based on the enthusiasm and accomplishments of the fifth boat. Well, Miss Chickel and Miss McDaniel have created what everyone in this school fears in their sleep and cringes at the mention of they have created crewbies. This year’s Senior Eight, Junior Eight, and Senior Four have all had strong seasons.

I wish all of you could see the emotion and energy that these young women invested in this sport. I hope they will carry with them from SAS the lessons we have learned and the pure joy they experienced from giving their all. The seniors will be deeply missed.

Men’s Varsity Crew

SEEK SUFFERING AND IT SHALL LOSE ITS TERROR

With that somewhat odd enthusiasm for difficult and disciplined physical exercise, the entire men’s crew program enjoyed a very successful season. The fifth boat won their opening race, the second boat won the silver medal at the Stotesbury Regatta, the junior eight won the bronze medal at the Scholastic Regatta, and the first boat won all three regular season trophies, including a crushing victory over Kent. The first boat included seven seniors who left an important legacy for the crews who follow them — “To retain a passionate fight for victory until the last stroke.” The time and effort all crews put into their practicing this spring showed their passion for crew and their understanding that the truest meaning of success comes from working your hardest and pushing yourself to always do your best.

Freshman Eight Coxswain: Greenlee. Crew: Willey, Miller, P., Stevens, T., Saddleton, Bullard, Durkin, Grant, Robinson, McEvoy, R.

This season has been the most enjoyable and fulfilling coaching experience I have had. The fact that the team was undefeated helped. The fact that we lost only 6 out of 70 individual matches helped. The fact that the team has clinched 2nd in states helped. But I can say honestly that the most memorable and important aspect of this season has been the individuals on the team - each of whom is full of human character, grit, courage, and dedication. Number one singles, Allison Thomas is one of the gutsiest players I have ever coached. Number two Ali Papson is the team captain, the spirited leader of this team, and provides all of us with humor, determination, and team spirit. Number three Emily Snyder, serious and committed, loves the game of tennis and works harder than anyone. Our number one doubles team, Nikki Hill and Kate Sidebottom are an incredible duo. Bevin Sell and Alexis Delee, number two doubles, played unstoppable tennis, going on to win the state doubles championship. Thanks again to all the girls on the team for an unforgettably fun season.

Boy's Tennis

Led by six seniors, the tennis team capped off a very successful season by finishing second in the team portion of the Delaware State tournament. Individual highlights included Kip Digges, team captain, and Ashton Curtis reaching the quarterfinals of their respective singles tournaments. Deepak Voora and Alex Robin reaching the semi-finals of the second doubles tournament, and Eric Calder and Andrew Mahlstedt winning the Delaware State Championship at first doubles.

Having stayed virtually intact for two seasons, this team accomplished much: 25-4 in dual matches, a conference championship and a top five ranking in the state for two consecutive years. St. Andrew's is, indeed, sad to say good-bye to this outstanding group of seniors.

This Spring, Whit Pilson, Susan Prior, Felicia Lee, Andrew Pipes, Jennifer Cheek, Ginna Hamner, and Mr. McLean (fearless leader) worked on a variety of projects. We landscaped the area behind the alumni house to provide better views of Noxontown Pond and the crew races. In the walnut grove, we bravely stomped some ferocious weeds by placing biodegradable weed pads around the bases of helpless saplings. Finally, we prepared the raptor cage for the arrival of Otus, an SAS screech owl. While working on these projects we had lots of fun, and learned a bit about what was around us. Thank you, Mr. McLean, for all the great times and adventures.
