The Class of 2014 would like to dedicate this year's Griffin to Ms. Pressman.

Ms. Pressman–

Throughout our journey here, you have pushed us to grow as scholars, dormmates, actors, and individuals. Your incredible teaching helped us to see ourselves as real historians, to explore and wrestle intensely with social and historical issues. Just when we were convinced that we have finally reached our brain capacity, your warm encouragement and legendary baked goods resuscitated us and told us that we can do more than we had thought possible of our own potential.

Outside of the classroom, your infectious smile and thoughtful guidance inspired so many in our class to appreciate a bit of humor and challenge in everything that we do. Your nearly tangible passion for education and your belief in St. Andrew's have shaped us in myriad, unforgettable ways to grow and we thank you for your contribution to the Class of 2014 and this school.
FROSTY RUN 2013.

GET JACKED.

Once a year, we the students of St. Andrew's load buses and pillage all of the local Wendy's. Of course we call ahead of time so they can prepare a plethora of chocolate and vanilla frosties, but let's be real- it's all about the chocolate. This glorious tradition has kicked off our school year for the last 24 years. The class of 2014 chose this year's theme to be "GET JACKED", and the video featured Ryan Price (Prizzle) accomplishing great feats and in fact, bringing all the boys to his yard. So thank you to Sven, SAC, and the class of 2014 for filling us with something that we are fairly certain is not real icecream!

This year, the girls' cross-country had an unbelievable season all around. Consisting of a third of the girls in the school, the team dominated multiple meets. The JV beat multiple varsity teams and surprised many with their intensity, strength, and speed. The phenomenal improvements that occurred throughout the season lead to many great stories of perseverance and success.

The varsity team had an excellent season as well, winning the DISC championship title as well as placing third at the state meet. After losing a few varsity members last year, newcomers Lucy Slack ('14), Ella Bristow ('17), Brookie McIlvene ('16) and Louisa Belk ('16) fit right in with returners Charlotte Bristow ('14), Caitlin Porrazzo ('15) and Emma Porrazzo ('15) to create an unstoppable, dynamic top 7. Louisa Belk had a particularly incredible season, ultimately becoming the fastest girl in the state of Delaware as rookie, as she placed first in both the county and state championship meets. However, the true secret weapons of the team's success were the 3 duos of the Porrazzo girls, Brookie and Ella, and Lucy and Charlotte as they worked together to gain extraordinary strength and speed.
This year, guys XC was lead by the seniors not only in terms of culture but also winning. The varsity squad was almost entirely composed of seniors. What made this group so stellar however, was their leadership. Voting for captains was no easy task—Danny, David, Sam, Malcolm and TJ were all beyond qualified. Our team peaked at the end of the season and displayed immense improvement. Beating DMA at Counties, a few months after losing to them convincingly at the Lake Forest Invite, was proof of our team's upward trend. The captains do not anticipate next year to be one of rebuilding. Enthusiastic, committed newcomers such as Ben and Hoyt will team up with veterans like Alec and Neel to keep SAS in the mix as one of the best teams in Delaware. The very successful 2013 season for the Saints cannot neglect interim head coach Porter and new coach Tower's invaluable contributions to the team and their unwavering passion for the sport.
So, uh, you play the beautiful game...bros...brothers...brethren? Field Hockey is beautiful...and INTENSE. We certainly had our scrapes and bruises and torn ligaments along the way. But we also hustled, dived, destroyed fitness tests, ate massive amounts of food, hit big balls, dressed up in sick costumes, and generally didn’t run two laps. We had, hands down, the sickest psych party and a bonfire ever. We seniors just want to say thank you for bringing your best every day. Be proud of how far we came: in preseason we were learning basic stick skills and we ended our season with two amazing wins in a row. We’ll miss you guys so much next year. Keep bringing the Blood and Pain! GO SAINTS.

Your Captains
Football

We had what seemed was going to be a tough season in front of us after losing almost all of our starters from the previous season. We had a lot of energy from the opening game that continued through for the entire season despite the many trials that each opponent possessed. Things look bright for our future as several of our younger players have many years left to become great players and carry on the spirit of St. Andrews Football. Our season was a rollercoaster filled with fun and loaded with obstacles, we powered through and are all better men for it.

Volleyball

What can we say? It's no secret that we struggled with getting a win, but as individuals and as a team it's safe to say that we've made tremendous strides both on and off the court.
The differences of this year were made clear when in the first week of practice we had to explain to Terrell that separate color pinnies are unnecessary when teams are split on either either side of the court. We had a retired pro-basketball player with a whistle determined to teach us volleyball while simultaneously learning to play volleyball. Nonetheless, we love and respect him as a coach because he pushed us mentally and physically in practice and never gave up on us in games. Sometimes though, it seemed as if his main purpose was to kill us and to avoid the use of the term "shagging" when referencing the volleyballs. The tone of the season was not so lighthearted as we put in a great amount of effort that was not reflected in our record. Every practice was met with an energy distinctly free from any stigma from the game before. Most practices ended with sprints and we weren't allowed to leave until Terrell felt assured that we had given our all. This was hard for us to accomplish at first, but by the end of the season the mantra "push it to the next gear" was hardwired into our brains. We wouldn't have pushed into that next gear had it not been for the support we gave each other.
Some memories of the season:
The beautiful friendship that bloomed between the new coaches Conners and Mastrocola*
After parties at Wawa* The never ending stream of injuries and absences* Bridget's pre-practice mile* Rock and Dominic- the best managers and pretend players the team could have * When the priests began to serve* Workouts with Al and Jaivan* #Communication we'll figure it out eventually #who needs it anyways?
*Third gear, fourth gear, heck fifth gear, why not?

Thanks for everything!
Love,
the seniors :)

PS. Olivia, even though you weren't able to be on the court this year, your contributions to our season were invaluable.
Coming out of last season, we were unsure of how this next year was going to progress without some key players. Yet, from the beginning we saw the potential of the new bunch. Despite a rocky start with a 4-1 loss to Westtown, we pushed forward. We were unable to put away a few games and lost in overtime. Yet, one of our biggest accomplishments was taking Sanford to overtime and winning. We reached a point in which we needed to win the last 4 games of our season to move into the playoffs. The team took the pressure well, we won, and were awarded with the 5th seed in the tournament. We proceeded to take Brandywine and Delmar out to a nice seafood dinner and never called them again. Hopefully we extended our season to its fullest potential.

BOYS' BASKETBALL
This year has been an interesting year for the basketball team. After losing the star point-guard Austin Tilghman, the team seemed to be in disarray. With the leadership of Ben Bentil and the great play of many young players, the boys basketball team looks forward to another great season. Some may categorize this year as a rebuild year, but on the team, this is our opportunity to do something great. We are striving for the basketball state championship.

Our beloved SASsywolfpack,

To the playoffs we go. Thanks for an unforgettable last season. We've had buckets of fun with you and couldn't have wished for a better TEAM. Thanks to flossy fausey for your enthusiasm "lynden clap". To biggie for your lockdown D, to krusty for being krebs and to liv for always showing up and being the best scouting reporter ever. Thank you Justin for your half-court shots. We love you. Thanks to johan for going ham, to wakka flappa flame for flopping hard in the paint and to wary for making in wain. To nurse buckets for your famous star jumps and to dusty for the bruises. We love you kickos so much and we're leaving it to the juniors for their turn to step up. Remember, if you're ever in doubt, do what Liz does.

Boys' Squash
The varsity squash team has shown incredible resilience, determination, and grit throughout the season. Whether it was a night practice or a match against one of our toughest competitors, they demonstrated focus, a willingness to improve, and an understanding of what it means to be part of a team. We couldn't be prouder of the effort put forth this season, and we hope that next season will be as successful as this one.

Thank you to Mr. Childers and Mr. Finch for your tireless work on and off the court coaching our team to a successful year. A big thank you also goes out to Richard Millman for teaching us what it means to survive and triumph on the court through his expertise and patience.

"Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure nineteen pounds nineteen and six, result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pounds ought and six, result misery."

Love,

Hey Squashers!

It's been such a great season with all of you! You guys have been so dedicated and have all contributed to the spirit to the team. We have had so much fun this season, especially with Papa Millman. I think it's safe to say we have survived in the jungle and put down grandmas tea cup ever so gently... lolz. We are also on our way to exceeding 24 hours in the van together; we bring team bonding to a whole new level! We will miss you all so much next year, but we know you will keep on killin' it and being wedgie! Also, thank you Dr. O'Connor and Mr. Millman for all that you have done to build the squash program!

Dear Mossians-
What a pleasure it has been living with you all this year. We will truly miss all of you next year. It hasn't always been easy but we will never forget you guys! From all the spelling errors (Upper Moos, BIRTHDAYS, and February) to the Twerkles, it has been an adventure to say the least. While you may all take inhuman amounts of time to brush your teeth, and we sometimes had to brush them for you, you were always game for a goodnight hug. You all never failed to eat absurd amounts of whatever kind of food we put in front of you in record breaking times (we have been VERY impressed, and only a little disturbed). We love you all so much. Remember to stay Saucy, Mossy!

Mein Girls might keep it classy...

It's true, we're sophisticated. We discuss important issues over slam poetry with K-Crow while eating cookies that are gluten-free, because that's trendy or something now. On Sundays we discuss the latest events in politics, theater, Ke$ha's musical career, and Miley Cyrus's edgy new lifestyle.

We sip tea, eat brie, and enjoy the finer things in la vie.
...but we know how to shake things up.

Because sometimes...

...classy gets boring...

...but Mein?

Mein is never boring.
If anything, Mein is proof that you really can have it all...

You can be fierce in the Beyoncé sense...

...and in the sense that everyone's a little frightened.

You can be endearing and always put together.

And not quite so put together... but still endearing.

You can have class.

You can have sass.

You can be single and lovin' it.

You can have one sort-of roommate

And maybe three if you're insane.

Or just too cool to pose with your roommate....

Or just too cool to pose at all... Ellie.
Ladies,

We couldn't have asked for a better group of hard-working, tenacious and fast girls to have on the swim team this year. From getting those 1st-5th place points, to cheering and being there for teammates, each one of you played an invaluable role on our team. You've made it through Coach Wallace's resurged post-sabbatical intensity and the freezing weather that turned our hair to ice after each practice without fail. Swimming is unique in that it challenges you both physically and mentally like no other sport. For us as seniors, it has been nothing short of inspiring watching you guys make every practice and meet such a fun and positive experience. We have full faith that you can carry on this legacy of remarkable energy that has always made the St. Andrew's swim team more than just a team, but a family. All this said, you ladies are well on your way to turning the milk into butter.

We Maine-ly just wanted you all to know that this swim season has been WICKED. We love you all and will miss you so much next year!

Swimfastestcerely,

Your Captains

Boys,

! Short and sweet. These are two words we would use to describe this season. In the shortest of the three athletic seasons, we wish we could have more time. But the time we did have together was one filled with success and laughter. Led by our three sophomores, The Dynasty and Xander proved to be a force to be reckoned with, conquering everything in their path. Followed by our 3%ers, Wit, Neel, and Emory, what they lacked in body fat they brought in spirit and fight, beating out many opponents for important points. T-Nick, while half the time was no where to be found, and not necessarily the best of role models, somehow provided an upperclassman who the younger swimmers looked up too. The newcomers made up the majority of the boys team, giving us the depth to compete with teams like St. Marks and Al. Led by senior Chris H, who brought indisputable leadership and a whole crowd of girls to every meet, we looked for his helpful advice, none of which usually applied to swimming. Our freshman, Colin, Keegan, David, Adam, Ben, Addison, and Russell, had the great role models of the Junior newcomers, Grayson, Will, Liam, and Fabian, who were welcome additions to the team.

! This swim season was one of the most invigorating and enjoyable athletic experiences the two of us have had in our high school years. Beating St. Marks and A.I. Dupont, as well as winning the first tri-meet, all for the first time in school history, utterly destroying Tatnall in frigid temperatures; the list of achievements from this winter continues on and on. These 4 months have brought all of us closer together, and the two of us will be the first to tell you that we are proud and honored to call all of you family.

Find greatness in darkness.
Your Captains, Chris and Jay
WRESTLING
2013/2014

Duff-bone has led us to yet another successful season on the mat - with the help of a few coaches. A shout out is in order to who come on their own time just for the love of the sport. The great prophet, Coach Carps, for his bible of knowledge. Primo for being Primo. The Great Hutch Hogan, who comes in ready to fight. Señor Prizzlem who drives up from Smyrna (even when his son is injured) to come coach... and ref... shhh. Mason and Kelvin for being the best managers ever. And Phil-Fåkkai, who after a long and busy day, sticks around to instill fear in us all.

Thanks to all who contributed to our season and came to watch us grab sweaty men in tight clothing.

Please enjoy our crowning list of achievements...

Injuries
Amanda Sin-City- 75 separate shoulder injuries
Andrew Scarecrow Nolte-infected girls... panzy
Charlie Don't-Taylor-Father-PTSD: Post Trim Sadness Disorder
Ben Cobb on the Corn- chronic nose bleeds... who needs blood when you've got the cradle?
Danny DeVarth Vader- shoulder injuries out the woo-za
Tristan Thomas The Tank Engine- shattered body
Avi Veluchamy-your-mommy- We have a freshman?
Michael Alexander- R.I.P
Andrew Goleman-Mercy- M.I.A (after the broken knee)
Colin Brownlee, D.D.S.- infectious skin monsters... this is why we shower

Mock Trial this year was an adventure but we loved every minute of it. We were a team of mostly veterans and everyone had flawless final performances. To the witnesses- you were all hysterical and we will never forget your skill and poise when you took the stand including, "My right as an American citizen"; "I'm an alpha male"; "Even Jesus had enemies"; "Although the prosecution insists on calling me 'queasy'". To the lawyers- we wish you all the best in the years to come. You continue to impress us. And a special thank you to our Mock Trial parents- Adam and Will Rob. Dominate the courtrooms in the next couple years and remember- your significant other can be found at the Newcastle County Courthouse.

Mere muggles may not know the secrets of the forbidden forest near our Founders castle, but I will tell you a secret. For years dark spirits have stirred and plotted against the denizens of our school. Foul creatures roam the night slacking their thirst for blood on the unlucky. Yet, one group stands united against the darkness, fighting to keep our school safe. During the winter these heroic students gather from all over world to ensure the survival and happiness of those around them. You are most likely ignorant of their true identities and simply know them as classmates, friends or even roommates, but make no mistake; these people are truly powerful wizards. Serving for three years, David the giant has been an invaluable asset to our team due to his ability to reach the height of even the tallest of trees and tactical genius. Malcom the wild has served for two years and in that time has made the wielding of hand saws an art form. Aaron the strong joined our group with Malcom and thanks to his ability to wield two axes at once the pair form an unstoppable duo. Yet, as the leader of this group, Victor of the forest, it brings me sadness to admit that there is one foe we cannot beat. Time is one force that is impossible to defeat and so, we must move on new adventures. Yet fear not for we leave this group in good hands. Isabel the restless never ceases to explore the forest, even going to dangerous missions alone to ensure the safety of St. Andrews. She is backed up by Charlie of the cold, a master of ice magic, who is able to thrive in temperatures that would kill any other. These two will be supported next year by Cole the keen, Eleni of the ice, Isabelle the eager, Riley the astute and Katie the ready. Last but definitely not least we have our mentor, Dr. McLean the all-knowing. Without him this would have never been possible. So reader, in the end I ask but one thing of you. When you sit down to do your work in the library or walk over to Amos, take a few seconds and think about the woods and all the secrets and adventure to be had. This job is not an easy one and many could not take the strain. Those who left will be remembered but more will always be needed to take their place.

This has been a fantastic year for the Choral Scholars! Our dedication has allowed us to tackle difficult pieces (favorites included the Durufle Requiem and A New Song) and to tour and record in the second semester. We saw a lot of great new faces and huge improvements this year, making the future of Choral Scholars look exciting. Thank you to Mr. Costa for all of his help, his squash bread, his cats, and his questionably funny jokes. All of the seniors will miss this group so much, and we can't wait to come back and hear you sing!

This is the year of the dance program. Year three has been a year of phenomenal growth and development. It has been nothing less than spectacular. This is due entirely to student interest and passion. With five academic classes, two afternoon seasons of dance, choreography for the winter musical, the all new production of The Nutcracker, two dance clubs developed by students, weekly student taught classes for the community, an outreach program developed to teach mentally and physically disabled individuals as well as collaboration with many academic classes, the program is truly thriving. This is the reason that I put as much time and energy into the program as I can. My goal for the dance program is to make every student's dance dream come true. I will work tirelessly to make this happen. With as much passion as the students have there is no limit to what we can accomplish in the years to come." - Avi Gold, Dance Director

Without these responsible adults, there would be a lot more emergency runs to the hospital for sugar comas and nerf gun accidents
Now if you're a living, breathing, person, you're probably a little envious of M dorm. But not everyone can be a Mein girl, so here's a quick rundown of life in our humble abode, so you can live vicariously through each of us.

Sundays are dorm meetings:
Ana gives us a weather update,
Holley tells us the latest Alabama scores,
Monie plays us Pitbull's newest release.
Asia spends the whole time listening in rapt attention.

Sometimes we'll gather with Miss Crowley, to watch shows on a Netflix account that she may or may not have stolen. If it's Wednesday, and Mr. Porter forces us to watch his favorite TV show, American Horror Story. Otherwise, typical dorm function might involve:

Eliza and Miss McGowen killing it at Charades, or Izzy trying, pretty unsuccessfully to sneak a few strange hints into the salad bowl.
Charlotte engaging in deep and thought provoking debates,
Madeline sitting there looking a little skeptical of everything (but secretly loving us all.)
Meanwhile, Miranda's there to capture the chaos on film.
Sara usually makes us some "delicious" gluten free snacks, but
Olivia has her bagel bites to pull her through.

Should you happen to put these lovely ladies to bed, you'll have the great pleasure of:
"turning out the lights" for Cindy, Emma, and Emma Lea, so they can "go right to bed." ...sure.
Of course, you'll have to wait an extra 20 minutes for Morgan to "brush and wash" if she even brushes or washes at all...
Ellie's the easiest, since she's probably been asleep the whole time.
If you were to meander down to the quad to turn out their lights off, though, you might stumble into an "initiation," by Michelle, Melina, Liz, and Carbery.

If you escape alive, maybe you'll experience Mein after 11.

After 11, there's even MO' riah, if that's possible,
Mollie leads an excursion to the laundry room,
Louise and Taylor lay the smack down in Mein Fight Club
(did someone just talk about Mein Fight Club? oops)
Janee sends snapshots on snapshots on snapshots, and
Clara puts us all to shame at Cards.
Now, since none of this has anything to do with our theme:

Mein on the Moon...

It's been out of this world!

We love you and and all that other cheesy stuff.
Xoxo, your Seniors.

Dear Beautiful People,

We had a dream recently that it was graduation. A splendid day in May. You all strode out onto the front lawn in your regalia – St. Andrew’s ties or white dresses. Malcolm was of course wearing his camel coat thing, but it wasn’t nearly as disgusting as it is in real life. You smiled as you processed in and sat in the white chairs you helped clean off the year before, left side, all the way to the front. Graduation went as all graduation’s do. Eliza and TJ offered worthy words of congratulations and love. Others offered wisdom and reiterated expectations of living a life worth living. One-by-one, your names were called and we cheered, clapped, laughed. Mr. Roach hugged every one of you and you each deserved the sense of accomplishment that can only come with such pomp and circumstance.

Afterwards, we ate lunch on the Front Lawn. We did our best to give our well wishes to everyone, but the rush and confusion made it hard. In truth, we struggled to say goodbye, a mix of denial and disbelief. Eventually, you started to leave. Not en masse, but a trickle. “Have you seen so and so?” “I’m not sure. I think they left.” And that’s how it ends. We clean the front lawn and the underperformers sit around, wondering how it will feel later that night, hours after you make your way out the long driveway for the last time as students, or near students.

We’ve painted a bit of a sad story, but here’s the good news: you’re never truly gone and you’re never actually apart from each other. You see, you will always be brothers and sisters and St. Andrew’s will always be your collective home. Better still, in the words of Michael Jackson sang so passionately by Evan, we want you back.

You’re not invited back; you don’t ever need an invitation. In fact, you’re expected to come back often, hopefully with each other. When your five-year reunions come along you have to promise us that you’ll make every effort to be there. There will inevitably be scheduling conflicts – weddings, births, detainment in a foreign land – but the truth is that you know you are better with each other and the more of you in one place, the better still you become. It is more than you all simply being more than the sum of your parts. The parts themselves get more interesting, brighter, more alive. If you’re not convinced, then just promise you’ll come back for the karaoke. We might even join you.

We are so honored and proud to be a part of the Great Class of 2014. You are in our hearts as we know you are in each other’s. Be good to each other, look out for each other, and make the necessary effort over the years and years from now to keep the family strong.

Much Love,
Mr. Robinson and Ms. Devine

CALLOUTS/BLACKMAIL

With Friends like these I know life is good, Thank You St. Andrews
Welcome one and welcome all to my senior page! I know everyone else will have a bunch of pictures of people but I decided to do my page a little differently. But this doesn't mean I don't love you all; I do! Anyway welcome to 1-800 and one reference you probably won't get.

Indeed, Captain speaks the truth. Let us rest and remember these past 4 years. So much has happened and I would hate to forget anything! As for the new comers, have some life lessons - free of charge.

Freshman year our Journey began. Beardless, shy and clueless, four people especially saw past my social awkwardness and became my friends, Ryan, Austin, Eman and Oriana, thanks for the friendship, without you that year would have been much colder and my time at St. Andrews could never have been as awesome as it was. Thanks a billion!

That year was an adventure. New people, hard classes and dorm. Beating with confidence can be hard, but I learned that sometimes you just have to throw yourself out there. It won't be easy but you should do it. Your true friends will catch you.

And yet, this time to move on to bigger and better adventures. Our imaginations are our limits and the possibilities are only limited by what we refuse to understand. We are human, we are flawed but together we cannot become greater. In unity we can surpass hate and diversity. For, in unity we find friendship, in unity we find understanding and with understanding, anything is possible.

Victor Alejandro Arias

Whelp, it certainly has been some crazy four years hasn't it? It seems like just the other day all the guys were gathered in the living room playing CoD, everyone was hanging out in groups of 25 people because nobody knew anyone else, the violent plaque known as ‘Facebook fans’ was released and we sweated under the stress rule of Mr. Everhart during dinner. (story half and we are the last class to do so.

 Heck, that’s just freshman year we have been though so much. It really has been a BAST!

Finally, senior year, but before I get all soppy and start shedding many tears I want to share a little advice on the college process and about looking to the future. When you start visiting colleges many will blend together into an endless series of information sessions and campus tours that all seem to say/show the same things. DON'T LET THEM! Ask questions about research and things that get you involved with your interests. Wait being said, try and get an understanding of what you like to do. If you want to do it without getting paid, try to make it if you can. You won't regret it seriously people make a living as professional videogame players, so the options for you are endless.

Ah, Junior year. There was the amazing quad (Bum Squad union), ‘Studying’ with Oriana and Charlie., I grew a beard and so much more! The last part of the year was fun but everything changed when the cat went wrong story. So gather your team of friends and go on an adventure! See what you guys
Thank you to every single person that has help make my St. Andrew's career one of the best and most memorable parts of my life. Thank you to my parents, Will Rob, Hutch, Carroll, the Men of Sherwood, and the class of 2014.

Special thanks to: Eliza, Megan, Garrett, Alex, Ellen, Colin, Aaron, Bo, Will, Emory, Peart, Bridget, Malcolm, TJ, Kirstin, Sam, Elsa, Lucy, and Kelvin.

Cherish every moment that St. Andrew's has to offer.

-Thanks to Mom, Dad, and Will Rob for supporting me, and especially my bros Andrew and Henry for all the love. Thank you to all my teams, classmates, teachers, and friends, and everyone that made my time here unforgettable.
The years fly by. Thank you to Mr. Higgins, Mr. Kahan, Mr. Brown, Mr. Hammond, Mr. Brownlee, Mr. Porter, Mr. Desalvo, Mrs. Fritz, Mrs. Zendt, Señora and all the other faculty that have impacted my life and future. Shout out to my brothers: JWR, DAD, CMB, MHB, SCG, BCB, AJS, TJWVO and ND. Thanks to Jamie, Allison, Louise, Oriana, Bella and Elsa for being great friends. Thank you Liza and TJ for being the best presidents. Thank you Luke B for preserving my sanity and being an all around amazing person. Lead next year.

Addison, it’s been great to get to know you this year; keep up the good work and enjoy the next three years. Dedicated to all the rowers, runners, polar bears, pipers, acolytes and SAC heads out there.

And to my loving sister and parents.

“Nothing lasts forever, so live it up, drink it down, laugh it off, avoid the drama, take chances and never have regrets because at one point everything you did was exactly what you wanted.” Taking the risk to come to SAS as a new junior is a decision that I would never look back on. It was a short 2 year career that was filled with laughs, cries and excitement. Thanks to everyone who made my last two years of highschool so memorable.

FOR THE FACULTY, THE SENIOR CLASS, AND EVERYONE WHO HAS EVER SHARED SAS WITH ME:
There isn't room for all the names, stories, pictures, or inside jokes to summarize my time here. I'm not sure if there could ever be a way to express how much we've all changed, the times we've grown up or the times we've chosen not to. The good, bad, late nights, laughter, random adventuring, and tears and all the in-betweens with you guys make these incredible years not just my experience but something shared between all of us.
Thanks for making it special and sharing it with me. Deuces.

Hey Meg, SDLC!
All of my roommate(honorary and "real": aka Jan, Ysabel, Kirstin, Bertie, Jamie AND Momo, Allison, Asia, Lilly, and Erica): All of you were supportive, loving and knew exactly when to tell me it was time to stop acting crazy, take a break and get some sleep. I really love all of the inside jokes and crazy stories as well as all of you, I guess :-3

The Boys(Charlie, Victor, Ryan, Austin and Clay): Yeah, fine, I don't have the space to write all of our jokes, and no where close to all of the memories but I couldn't think of a better group of guys to call "mine"... well, I don't but Bella Miller certainly does :)

My girls on Pell: You always make me laugh and give me hugs and all of you brightened up my day by just being happy to see me... and sometimes I even love the sassiness... sometimes :)

I don't have space to write about everyone who has made me laugh or shares a great memory with me but some people who really deserve a shout out are Preston, Nam(and Dylan O'Brien), Noah, Taylor, Jeremy, Ms. Reddy, Buffy, Clara, Ms. Pressman, Kelsey and Margaux(yeah I know they graduated).

Thank you for making it hard to say Good-bye! :)

This goes out to all the people who have made my time at St. Andrew's unforgettable.

Special thanks to Eunice and Allison, two of the best friends anyone could imagine. Keep doing your thing, ya hooligans. For Jamie, one of the most inspirational and lovely people in my life. For Louise, for being ridiculous and awesome and a fantastic person all at once. For Oriana, and the amazing albeit dysfunctional triple of senior year. For Kirstin, Lilly, Moriah, Ysabel, and all my friends. Big shout out to Preston, Katie, and Brenna and thanks to the Fab Friday Crew. Thank you Doc McLean, Ms. Kelly, Wexner, and P-Money, some of the greatest people to support and teach me at SAS. To the Pell girls- You're weirdos. But yes, you were right. I do love you all. Finally, thank you to my family- your love and support has taken me far. Keep it real, kids.

To my friends who never really run out of energy, to the teachers here who make me take ethos and compassion seriously, to the opinionated gals of K who keep me on my toes, and to my parents (see depicted in drag on right) who make clear I'm not as old as I think, thank you for constantly helping me to see the world with fresh eyes. Special thanks to Ms Kelly, DeSal, and Mr McGiff for anchoring me and making every load decidedly lighter. Finally, I have to credit the source of all my inspiration, my young homie Bertie Miller, who is always willing to skateboard barefoot, camp in the wilderness, and brave the existential with me. Cheers to everybody at SAS who embraces complexity and optimism; you've taught me so much.
First I want to thank my family. Thank you SAS for the ride. Shout out to everyone that helped me along the way. Much love to y'all! "I'm bored" is a useless thing to say. I mean, you live in a great, big, vast world that you've seen none percent of. Even the inside of your own mind is endless, it goes on forever, inwardly, do you understand? The fact that you're alive is amazing, so you don't get to say "I'm bored." - Louis CK

I would be nothing without my parents' neverending support and love

I love you guys
Thank you to Mr. Brown for reminding me to be humble and that there is no substitute for hard work.

To Morgan Scoville for the constant reminder that excellence is a choice.

To the Hurtts for being a second family to me and to Gibby and Liam for being the little brothers I never had.

Thank you to Hoyt for getting up early to workout with me and helping me push through a long, cold winter. Your hard work and determination amazes me.

To Malcolm, Evan, Henry, Reed and Noah for being awesome roommates over the past four years.

And especially to my big brothers Forrest and Jeff, for helping me get my feet on the ground and moving and always encouraging me in everything I do.

Special thanks to Danny, David, and Brian for helping to make some incredible memories, for running the biggest Martinelli’s scam of the century, and for all of the life changing games of Cards Against Humanity.

And Danny, thank you for being the best friend anyone could ever ask for. Who would have guessed four years ago that we would be where we are now and getting ready to head out on an even bigger adventure. I couldn’t have done it without you by my side.

Cheers

I'm thankful for this rather... educational chapter of life that you've all given me. I'll remember most of you fondly, others... well, that's irrelevant, I'm not really feeling a salty goodbye in my bones right now.

Anyway, we've all got our own roads to walk, and sadly, very few of us will have someone familiar to walk along with us, but life is fleeting, full of beginnings and endings. Just stay positive and roll with it, I have no idea where my next stop is, but I hope it's as enlightening as my time with you all has been. I know I may have seemed distant and aloof to some of you, but just know that I've never had a better place to hang my heart than St. Andrews.

Stay sharp, 2014... and try not to get yourself killed before our reunion, 'cause if you're not there, I'll notice.

Mom: You have been there for me every step of the way and being able to rely on you at every turn keeps me going. No amount of space on this page is enough. Papa: You have supported everything I have done the past four years and have sacrificed countless hours in the car, over email, on the phone, and face to face with me. I grew up to be like you. I've done a lot right. Max: I am so happy that I have gotten to spend my last two years with you here and I know that you are capable of amazing things in the future. NBA: here comes Mac Daddy, Cam: The only thing that I’ve neglected about SAS is that I didn’t get to hang with you as much as I wanted to. Your one of the funniest people I know and this is the limit for you in high school and beyond. Corrent: Joe: I don’t care that we had two of the worst rooms on campus, every year I roomed with you was better than the last. Your my bro Joe and I can rely on you more than almost anyone I know. Y: I want you to know that I’ve had that note left on my bed before you left in my backpack every since. You are the single best person on earth and I can’t help but think how different senior year would be with you here. Don’t you dare feel guilty though since I only feel that way because of how big a part of my life you were before this year and now continue to be. The von Heese’s will always be a family. Jasper: The Room of Diversity is simply not complete without your European Flavoring. Rooming with you was the best and it was a pleasure to have work as hard as you do every morning. Malcolm: Bonding together with our kids in danger as we can down junior dorm in the hopes of avoiding Emerson and John Klein was a perfect way to start our friendship. From Nicaragua and back, you have been there for me when I needed you and you always know how to make me laugh. Fleming Squad: You guys have made my senior year that much more amazing and I know that the school is in good hands with all of you here. Biles: I’m so happy to have gotten to know you so much better this year and hope you know that you made my life better. I love you. The best Lisa! Elsa: One of the only positive things that came out of that hectic time in between Thanksgiving and Christmas is that I got to know you better than I could have hoped to. I’ll never be able to repay you for letting me depend on and open up to you. Ms. Everhart and Mr. Gold: You both made life on dorm entertaining and meaningful every fodd. Will Rob: Your guidance as a Class Advisor and Head of the Honor Committee has been invaluable. Your level headedness helped keep me grounded and able to move forward. Mr. Davies: You have been an inspiration to everyone in our class and the SAS community. I know you didn’t get to spend as much time with us as everyone would have liked but know that you shaped a huge part of who you are though your presence and positivity. Mr. Brown: Aside from the amazing food, as an advisor you went above and beyond as I could have hoped for. From giving out of your way to pick up an idea at God’s Parrish to catching us on our in 1993 slim, you did it all. Mr. Porter: You have influenced me as an athlete, a scholar, a leader and a person and I am extremely grateful. Mr. Roche: Your undying passion for St. Andrew’s and every little part that comprises this place has shaped and challenged my values and passions. Thank you, SAS! Every single person I have ever had the pleasure of meeting have helped cultivate a part of who I am today. For that I am extremely grateful and I wish only the best for each of you individually and St. Andrew’s as a whole in the future.
There are too many people to thank on such a small page. In short, St. Andre has been the best thing to ever happen to me, and I thank everyone who ever helped me, challenged me, cared about me, taught me, advised me, coached me, or befriended me. It has been a great four years because of you.
Things at SAS that I will carry on: knowledge, athleticism, self-awareness, the love for bacon/hot wings, and steadfastness. Merci beaucoup!

Every student, faculty member, and staff member that I have had the fortune of interacting with over the past four years has shaped me into the person I am. Thank you all for helping me realize what is important: I have nothing but the best wishes for all of your futures.

Thank you also to my family (Steven, Grant, Mom, and Dad) for the encouragement and love that you unwaveringly give me, even while living hours away. Living away from home has truly made me appreciate the extent to which you go to ensure that I am having the best high school experience that I could ever have hoped for.

We can make the best or the worst of our lives. I hope you make the best of it. And I hope you see things that startle you. I hope you feel things you never felt before. I hope you meet people with a different point of view. I hope you live a life you're proud of. If you find that you're not, I hope you have the strength to start all over again.

GABBY:
We are so proud of you - your resilience, poise and dedication to your schoolwork. Even in the face of adversity - your great loss - you have endured and excelled beyond our expectations. You have demonstrated that through hardwork and perseverance the highest point of the star is attainable!! Daddy would have been very proud of you Gab..as always!
Much love-
Mommy & Nelly

Mary Kujan

Mary, We are profoundly proud of who you are and everything that you have accomplished!
With everlasting, unconditional love and encouragement,

Dear St. Andrew's,

Whether this is your 1st or 2nd read-through of the yearbook we hope you have enjoyed all the memories contained within its pages. Every year we pore over the yearbook trying to craft something that will capture the year. And while these pictures and blurbs are only snapshots, we hope that they help you to remember everything that has made this year special. Whether it is crazy nights on dorm, class functions, WAWA trips, or simply watching a movie with friends, every year is a new collection of cherished memories which no book can hope to capture. So take a moment to think back and recall your 2013-2014 year. Think of your friends, your teammates, your teachers, your seniors, and those who have meant the most to you. And if the yearbook helps you to remember these moments and the fun times we have shared together, then our work here is done.

Uncerclassman: Create those memories with the time you have left. Make the school your home and fill it with those memories that will sustain you for the rest of your life.

Wonderful Class of 2014: Remember everything, remember everyone. We have created something special here, cherish it.

A special thanks to Mr. Meier: While you were were flung into the chaos of yearbook, you truly handled it like a pro. Thank you for all of your patience, support, and guidance. We could not have done this without you! Thank you!

To the Griffin staff: May your photo library always be full and your computer charged. Your tireless effort is what has made all of this possible and we want to thank you for all of your hard work. May next year's Yearbook be even better than this year's. Keep on keepin on.

To the Junior Editors; Kristin, Chris, and Alphonso: Yearbook brings out a person's true self and we would like to say that after seeing you in action through the spring supplement, deadlines (hard and soft), and March 1st, we know that we found the best group of people to lead the next generation of the Griffin. Thank you for all that you have done this year and may you have half as good junior editors as we did.

Yearbook IS about feelings

Love,
The Senior Editors
Eunice, Charlie, Elija, and Bella
